

Teaching Senior-level Arizona State University Advertising

Betsey Griffin, the Media Director for The Lavidge Company, takes time out of her busy schedule twice a year to speak to college students at Arizona State University about her experience in the advertising world. She shares her knowledge of the advertising and radio industries to business students. Betsey offers tips for getting into both the advertising and radio industries, how to be successful in the business world and the reality of her past jobs.